and a Bible open to Luke 2 depicting the real meaning of Christmas. Upper right photo is a place setting with centerpiece which is a bar of music with a wire staff and lines and red pipe cleaner with blue Christmas ball notes. Most unusual and beautiful table centerpieces were made with driftwood (lower left), goldenrod, greenery, acorns and pine cones. A very clever idea is this Christmas tree, (lower right) made of wire and a broomstick and decorated with red milk bottle caps.

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

MRS. ETHEL MATHIAS, Harrisburg Public Schools nurse, has an article in the December issue of the Educational Press Bulletin titled "The Medical Advisory Board."

Mrs. Mathias' article tells of the choosing of three doctors to represent the Harrisburg doctors in a school health advisory committee.

Meetings are held three times a year, or more often if needed, with the doctors, school superintendent or assistant superintendent and the school nurse meeting together. Plans for the ensuing year are presented, clinic dosages determined, vision and hearing conservation evaluated, type of physical and dental examination forms have been reviewed, attendance and support of professional organizations is noted and co-operation with other agencies discussed, the article points out.

The article concludes: "Guidance, and not free professional service, is what the school wanted and has found in the Medical Advisory committee functioning into the third year. However, courtesy service has been given repeatedly. The school has a fine degree of co-operation in the local agencies with the professional groups. Through continual adult and child health education we aim toward a more effective school health program and greater community service in tempo with the changing world of today."

Christmas Talk At Lions Club by Rev. Daugherty

Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church, was guest speaker at the Lions club Ladies' Night Christmas meeting Monday evening.

Quoting from St. Luke 2:10 when the Angels announced the birth of Christ with the words "Behold, I Bring You Good Tidings," Rev. Daugherty said that indeed it was "Good Tidings," the birth of Christ being the greatest happening in the history of the world.

"All the good works in the world today are done because of the coming of Christ to the world. Our churches, homes, schools and hospitals are established in the name of Christ.

"Some say we should do away with Christmas because of the commercial and other non-Christ affiliated aspects.

"But despite any failures, it is still most worth while. The season does something to all people and brings a spirit of joy into the lives of many. Even those not interested in Christ and His church find it a time to do something to help others," Rev. Daugherty declared.

"Christ provides the way for peace, happiness and security. We must seek and search for God's gifts to us," the Lions were told by the speaker in closing.

The next regular meeting of the Harrisburg Lions club will be held Monday, Jan. 7, at 6 p. m. at Nick's 45 Drive-In. The Lions will join with the Rotary and Kiwanis club Monday, Christmas Eve, in a noon meeting, at the Masonic temple and there will be no meeting of the Lions club Monday, Dec. 31, New Year's Eve.

Dr. Morris Calls for Mid-America Area of Attractions for Tourists

SIU President Addresses Shawnee Hills Ass'n at Vienna

President D. W. Morris of Southern Illinois University last night called for a huge mid-America area of attractions to bring tourists into this region.

Dr. Morris spoke at the December meeting of the Shawnee Hills Recreation association, held at the American Legion cabin at Vienna. The association is composed of men from Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Johnson and Massac counties, united to develop the tourist industry in these counties.

"Here we have a beginning," Dr. Morris stated. "But we should see this thing spread and spill over into Missouri and Kentucky and Indiana into a mid-America area of attractions. Make the area of attractions so big that it will have a great emphasis on the minds of the people."

Dr. Morris, using a map of the United States, said that within a radius of 200 miles from the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers there are ten million people living. Within a 400 mile radius, he added, there are 41 million.

"Those figures reveal the potential," he stated before telling of some of his own experiences with the beauties of southern Illinois since he arrived at Southern in 1948.

He told of a ride on a towboat on the Ohio river from Evansville south to Cairo.

"One would have to be made of stone to make this trip and not feel the tremendous thrill in knowing that we have one of the most attractive places you ever saw anywhere," he remarked. "And not many people have seen these beauties from the river since those early days when most travelling was done on water. We have a tremendous resource flowing daily

27 Boys Entertained at Rotary; Webb Delivers Talk on Coca-Cola Co.

Twenty-seven boys from the seventh and eighth grades of the Dorrisville grade school and the junior high school were guests of the Rotary club Monday. Each boy was presented with several gifts from the club and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Millard Lynch, program chairman, introduced Richard Webb, production manager of the Harrisburg Coca-Cola Bottling Co., who spoke on the history of the Coke industry. He told how the first Coke syrup was produced in Atlanta, Ga., seventy years ago by Dr. John S. Pemberton. Dr. Pemberton in 1886 experimented with different kinds of syrup, using a large kettle and a boat oar to stir with. That first year 25 gallons were sold and the trade mark Coca-Cola was registered with the U. S. Patent office the next year. Since that time the industry has grown until now 150,000,000 gallons of syrup are sold each year.

Mr. Webb gave some history of the Harrisburg plant, stating that the owners Ray Wolf and sons, Frank and Tom, were granted a franchise in 1907 to run a plant in Mt. Carmel, Ill. The beverages were cooled by ice cut from the Wabash river. Later the Harrisburg plant was started and it has been changed several times, until it now has the most modern equipment possible.

Mr. Webb in closing said that the first nine months of this year were the best in history for the Coca-Cola industry, and he expressed the belief that it would continue to grow.

Dulles Warns Allies Must Not Reduce Defensive Power in Europe Now

Democrats Name Benton Man Court Nominee

Frank Hanagan Selected to Oppose GOP Judge House

Frank Hanagan, 46-year-old Benton attorney, has been named by Democrats in the First Illinois Supreme Court justice.

Hanagan was nominated late Monday to oppose Republican Circuit Judge Byron O. House of Nashville in a special election Feb. 25. House was named by the GOP at Mt. Vernon Saturday.

The Supreme Court vacancy was caused by the death of Justice Ralph Maxwell of Nashville Aug. 29.

The Democratic nominating convention was held at Belleville and four Saline county delegates who attended were County Judge Trafton Dennis, State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson, Assistant State's Attorney Harry McCabe and Atty. Joe M. Butler.

The vote on Hanagan was unanimous. However, a Perry county delegate made a motion from the floor to nominate Judge House, the GOP nominee, as the Democratic nominee also, but the motion was withdrawn following a recess and discussion.

Following his nomination, Atty. Hanagan made an address of acceptance using as his subject the value of the two-party system in a democracy.

The nominee is a brother of Atty. Mike Hanagan, who is well-known in Saline county as a result of appearing in court actions here quite often.

Burglars Tear Open Huge Safe Of Carrier Mills Oil Company

The Carrier Mills Oil Co. offices were entered over the week-end by burglars who tore open a huge safe and left with an undisclosed amount of cash.

The oil company is owned by John Dameron, John "Sunny" Cummins and Mearl Guard, who are jobbers for Mobilgas products.

Sheriff William T. Barrett and his deputies, who investigated along with Carrier Mills authorities, declared the job undoubtedly was done by professionals.

One deputy stated that from the amount of work done in getting the safe open, the thieves must have been inside the office for at least four hours.

Authorities said the safe was opened with a chisel and sledge hammer. The front of the safe was sealed in concrete and first the safecrackers had to knock out this concrete, which scattered all over the place.

Then they had to break through four safe doors before they got to the cash.

The offices were completely ransacked, too. The contents of the safe were thrown out onto the floor, filing cabinet papers were strewn and contents removed from drawers.

The burglary was discovered by Darriel Angelly, who operates a tank truck for the oil company. Angelly arrived at work early yesterday morning and found the safe torn off the front door and the door open.

The plant had been closed since Saturday noon.

Annual Report of County Treasurer Cannon Published

Shows Details of Various Funds Handled; Collected Approximately $1,750,000 Taxes

The annual report of Maynard Cannon, county treasurer and collector of Saline county, for the year ending November 30, is published in today's Register.

The report shows various funds of which Mr. Cannon as county treasurer is custodian, the balances on hand at the beginning of the year, the amounts received, the amounts paid out, to whom paid, and the balance at the end of the year.

The county treasurer, as the office name denotes, handles funds for the county as a corporate body, and also handles some special funds.

As county collector, which is one of the principal duties, he collects taxes which are levied by various taxing bodies.

The last fund in the report published today — the Collector's account, shows the amounts turned over to various taxing bodies on taxes collected and the amounts refunded to various individuals and firms on tax objections.

This fund showed a balance undistributed at the beginning of the year of $99,179.57. Taxes amounted to $1,745,453.82.

A balance of $104,652.39 remained in the Collector's account at the end of the treasurer's year. Of this, about $96,000 represents tax objections and the balance was back taxes collected after final settlements had been made for the year with various treasurers.

The $95,000 tax objection fund is not all objected to, but when there is a general tax objection, all the taxes of the objector are held up pending court decision on the actual amount objected to, and when objections are settled, the funds are distributed to treasurers of the taxing bodies.

Says Cuts May Be Justified if Satellites Freed

Secretary Holds First News Conference Since Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today a review of the Western power's military security arrangements in Europe might be justified if Russia's satellites ever become genuinely independent of Moscow domination.

But he warned, at his first Washington news conference since his cancer operation, that the United States and its free Allies must not reduce their defensive power now.

His guarded remarks appeared to be a hint that the West might be willing to negotiate with Russia for a possible mutual drawback of armed forces provided the Kremlin would pull the Soviet army out of eastern European countries like Hungary. But Dulles did not spell out the implied overture in detail.

Dulles suggested that Russia has a self-interest motive for considering some new arrangement on the satellites.

Says Reds Stir Trouble

He said that the recent unrest in the satellites makes it impossible for Russia any longer to count on some 60 satellite divisions to help the Red army in case of a war. On the contrary, he said, it now appears that the satellite forces might even be shooting in the other direction—that is, at Russia.

Dulles emphasized that the United States seeks peace and does not want to resume the cold war. He blamed Russia for increased world tensions which have come about since last year's Geneva summit meeting.

He said Russia has made every effort to stir up trouble in the Middle East and has tried to obstruct any settlement of the Suez Canal dispute.

Dulles also said the Soviet Union is responsible for the tragic events in Hungary. And he charged that the Soviet Union tore up the Geneva agreement to reunify Germany.

All of these developments, he said, make it look as though the Soviet Union is not anxious for friendly relations with the free world.

Dulles said that with the international picture as it now is, the United States has no plan to reduce its military strength in Europe. He said there probably will be some streamlining of U. S. forces there, however, to make them more mobile.

Consider Tito Visit

On other foreign policy questions Dulles said:

1. A visit to the United States by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito would serve a useful purpose and an invitation to him is being given sympathetic consideration. But he emphasized no formal invitation has been sent and he is not sure the visit will be arranged.

2. The United States is still firmly opposed to admitting Red China to the United Nations. But it greatly welcomes Japan's admission voted today.

3. The possibility of Britain's reducing her troops in Western Europe is being considered because of Britain's financial troubles. No final decision has been made yet.

4. The Suez Canal must be cleared as quickly as possible. He said this would benefit everyone, including the United States.

CONSTIPATED? New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

Only a bulk laxative can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to recreate a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAL, the new laxative discovery relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAL neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAL exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAL, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

All'y General Rules Women Eligible For Commissions in Illinois Guard

SPRINGFIELD — Women are eligible for appointment as commissioned officers in the nurse corps and medical specialists corps of the Illinois National Guard, the attorney general's office ruled Monday.

The opinion was requested by Maj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle, the guard adjutant general, to clarify state regulations concerning possible appointment of women officers. Federal regulations permit such service by women.

The opinion pointed out that enlisted men in the National Guard are drawn from the militia, which is open to able-bodied men between 18 and 45, while commissioned officers may be appointed from outside the militia.

There is no reason why women cannot be appointed to such positions "in the absence of any regulations prohibiting such appointments," the opinion said.

Boyle said five or six nurses will be commissioned to serve Air Force units of the guard, after the attorney general's opinion cleared the way for such appointments. It will mark the first time in the history of the state's military and naval forces that women have been permitted to serve, he said.

Poland Granted Veto Over Soviet Troop Moves

WARSAW — The Communist newspaper Trybuna Luda said today the new Polish-Soviet troop agreement would play a "considerable role in calming down the mood of Poland" where there have been recent anti-Soviet demonstrations.

The agreement signed here Monday night by Polish and Soviet officials gives Poland a virtual veto over the movement of Soviet troops stationed in Poland and control over Soviet troop movements into and out of Communist East Germany.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov flew back to Moscow today, 24 hours before a delegation arrives here from Yugoslavia. They were seen off by several high officials, but neither Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz nor Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka were at the airport.

Cyrankiewicz, in a speech released today, called the Polish-Soviet accord a "decisive turn in the relations between our peoples towards respect for sovereignty and equality between our states."

One of the key phrases in the Polish-Soviet agreement said:

"The movement of Soviet troops outside their bases will in every case require the consent of the government of the Polish peoples republic or of Polish authorities with powers vested in them by the government."

It meant there would be no further use of the Soviet troops for local political purposes. The Soviet armed forces were called out to help Poland's deposed pro-Stalinist government quell a workers uprising at Poznan last June.

Mrs. R. F. Land was hostess Thursday to the members of the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church for a Christmas party.

Sixteen members were present and one guest, Mrs. Clayton Humphrey, who gave a lovely devotion. "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" were sung during the program.

Christmas gifts were placed beneath a gaily decorated tree and were exchanged during the social hour.

Refreshments of date pudding and whipped cream were served with coffee.

REMEMBER THEM?—If you were a movie fan back in the Roaring Twenties, you'll be glad to know that some of your favorite stars are still around and doing fine, thank you. Pictured above as they gathered recently in New York are, left to right, Patsy Ruth Miller; Lila Lee; Leatrice Joy; Nita Naldi and Dagmar Godowsky. The one-time screen greats are shown below as they looked in their heyday.

Christmas Social by Soldiers for Jesus Class

The Soldiers for Jesus Sunday school class of the First Social Brethren church met Friday for a Christmas social at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Reed. The Reed home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

The meeting was opened with song; prayer was led by Arthur Holland, and roll call was answered with a Bible verse. Gifts were exchanged and the class teacher, Mrs. Reed, and the Rev. Earl Vaughn, had charge of the entertainment. The devotion was given by Lewie Sweat.

It was decided to fix a basket of food for a deserving family.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Lewie Sweat, Rev. and Mrs. Earl Vaughn, Janice, Jimmie and Gerald, Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Agin and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland and Artie, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reed and Jane Ellen.

The January social will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland.

Mrs. Della Dickerson, who suffered a broken hip recently, is now at home from the hospital. She plans to return to Anchorage, Alaska, with her daughter, Mrs. J. F. McCoy, in approximately three weeks.

Pythian Sisters Elect Officers

The Pythian Sisters held an election of officers for 1957 Thursday night and the following will be installed in January:

Past chief, Gertrude White; most excellent chief, Grace Johns; excellent senior, Effie Beal; excellent junior, Gladys Day; manager, Helen Crisp; secretary, Nellie Eddy; treasurer, Elizabeth Scott; protector, Virginia Day; guard, Elsie Cain; pianist, Jessie Hatcher; press correspondent, Jennie Pattinson; trustees, Helen Day, Grace Johns, Elizabeth

Scott; installing officer, Gertrude White.

The next meeting will be held in the IOOF Hall on Dec. 27.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear mother, Alice Hawkins, who passed away 13 years ago Dec. 18, 1943:
Though your smiles are gone forever,
And your hand we cannot touch,
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Ever loving fond and true.
There is not a day that passes,
That we do not think of you.
Your children, Rachel May and Roy. *145-1

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Mary E. Wallace, who died 7 years ago, on Dec. 17, 1949:
When mother breathes her last farewell,
The stroke means more than tongue can tell.
The world seems quite another place
Without the smile of mother's face.
And while she lies in peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by her children. *145-1

Alabama Presidential Elector Refuses To Vote for Stevenson, Kefauver

Young Mother to Be Returned to 3 Children Abandoned in N. York

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A sad young mother waited in jail today to be returned to the three children she abandoned in New York rather than confront them with empty stockings on Christmas morning.

"I wasn't able to take care of the kids—I couldn't provide a Santa Claus," thin, brown-haired Mrs. Irene Pierce, 23, sobbed to police after her arrest in a hotel Monday night.

She was separated from her musician husband some time ago, she told Policewoman Alma Taylor. She left Victor, 5, Sandra, 3, and James, three months, on a bench in New York's bustling Grand Central Terminal last Friday.

Faced Bleak Christmas

Mrs. Pierce said she would rather lose her children than face the prospect of a bleak Christmas morning, possibly without lights and electricity, in her relief project apartment at Waterbury, Conn.

Victor had pleaded for a pair of roller skates for Christmas. Little Sandra "was expecting a red wagon" from Santa. But she was unable to buy the presents with the $20 meal ticket she received from the city each week.

Mrs. Pierce, gray-eyed, and dressed in slacks, a sweater and a tweed coat, said the city paid her rent in the relief project and also promised to pay her electric bill, which was six months past due. But she said the bill was not yet paid and the power company threatened to turn off her electricity "any day."

Seeks Her Brother

She could have got a $35 a week job as a waitress, she said, but it would have cost $15 a week to have the children cared for while she worked.

Mrs. Pierce went to the Jacksonville Traveler's Aid Bureau to seek help in locating a brother she believed was stationed at Eglin Air Force Base in the northwest Florida. The bureau found through a routine check that Mrs. Pierce was wanted for child abandonment in New York.

The children were found by station officials and turned over to New York police. They are being cared for by the city.

Mrs. Pierce said she would waive extradition. A policewoman from New York was being sent to return her there.

About Town And Country

Ride with Santa Claus," is her first achievement.

"The Ride with Santa Claus" tells of the Christmas adventures of Mooly and if you want to know who Mooly is I'll tell you. Mooly is a little black calf with white spots who runs away from his ranch home very often.

On one occasion he is rescued from deep snow by Santa and Santa takes him along on the visits to the boys and girls. When he gets home his mother doesn't believe he's been out with Santa, but St. Nick comes to his rescue. Santa takes him to Judea to get the answers to his questions.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES reports that on a recent visit here, 67 bags of clothing and other household items from 47 homes were collected. These items will be used, it was pointed out, to provide employment and rehabilitation for more than 300 handicapped men and women.

Take Two to State Institutions

Sheriff William T. Barrett and Mrs. Barrett left today to take two delinquents to state institutions. Peggy Sue Rude was taken to the institution for girls at Geneva and Gary Brown to the school for boys at St. Charles.

Shawnee Ranger To Be Transferred

James W. Jay of Jonesboro, now district ranger of the Jonesboro District, Shawnee National Forest, will be transferred to Cadillac, Mich., about Jan. 1. In his new assignment, Mr. Jay will be staff assistant to the Forest Supervisor of the Lower Michigan National Forest.

The transfer was announced by Shawnee Forest Supervisor L. P. Neff of Harrisburg. He paid tribute to the excellent job Ranger Jay has done during the five years he has been at Jonesboro.

Ranger Jay graduated from University of Idaho in 1934 entering the Forest Service the same year. He has been a forest nurseryman, and ranger on the Nicolet and Ottawa National Forests before coming to the Shawnee National Forest in Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay have three children. The oldest, David, will remain in Illinois as a student at Southern Illinois University where he is studying forestry.

A replacement for Mr. Jay will be named in the near future.

Report Record Livestock, Crop Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's farmers and ranchers turned out a record total production of crops and livestock during 1956 despite weather damage and the smallest harvested acreage in 20 years.

The Agriculture Department's final crop production report for the year, issued Monday, showed 1956 crop output at 106 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This equaled the 1948 record. Revised figures for last year's crop production, also included in Monday's report, showed that 1955 also tied the 1948 record.

Department officials said total livestock production for 1956 already has reached 123 per cent of the base period, up from last year's 121 per cent. This output, added to the record-equalling crop production, resulted in a total food, feed, and fiber production representing 114 per cent of the base period.

The previous record of 113 per cent for all three was set last year. Final figures on livestock production will be compiled in January.

The department said the record-equalling crop was achieved from the smallest total harvested acreage in 20 years and in a growing season beset by late cold spring weather and drought threats or damage to crops over large areas of the nation.

The corn crop, at 3,451,292,000 bushels was the second largest in history. The all wheat crop, at 997,000,000 bushels, was nearly 7 per cent above last year's.

Authorize Railroads to Boost Freight Rates Despite Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern and western railroads were free today to boost their freight rates by 5 to 7 per cent on five days' notice.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday authorized the increases on an "emergency" basis despite protests from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, other federal agencies, state commissions and shippers. The commission estimated the increase would provide $402,600,000 a year in additional revenue for the railroads.

The ICC authorized a 7 per cent increase on freight traveling in the area east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and in the "Pohontas" area of Virginia and West Virginia. It authorized a 5 per cent hike on freight traveling in the area west of the Mississippi, and between the eastern, western and southern areas.

It specified maximum increases on certain commodities, however. Increases will be limited to a maximum of 5 per cent on grain and grain products, livestock, fresh meats and packinghouse products, lard substitutes and vegetable oil shortening.

Still pending is a request filed in September for a 15 per cent hike. The western and eastern railroads have said the 15 per cent request is in addition to the request for a 7 per cent emergency hike. But the ICC has said it considers the emergency hike to be an installment on the larger increase asked.

The ICC's order authorizes a flat 10 cents per ton increase on coal and coke. It authorized maximum increases of:

Seven cents per 100 pounds on fresh fruits, vegetables and melons, edible nuts, canned goods and millwork; 6 cents per 100 pounds on sugar and lumber; 8 cents per 100 pounds on cotton; 5 cents per ton on lignite, 30 cents per ton on phosphate rock and salt and 50 cents per ton on potash.

Exhaust First Jury Panel In Murder Trial

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (AP) — Attorneys today questioned a new panel of veniremen in their efforts to seat a jury in the trial of a mother and daughter charged with murdering a love rival.

Opposing attorneys have agreed on only eight jurors after more than a week of questioning 215 prospective jurors.

The lawyers exhausted the original jury list Monday, and Sheriff William H. Ferrell was ordered to round up 25 more candidates for today's session.

The case involves Mrs. June Davis of Cave-in-Rock, Ill., and her 18-year-old daughter Betty Ann, who are charged with slaying Betty Jean Joiner, Hartford, Conn., in 1954.

Miss Joiner was riding with Betty Ann's fiancé and met Mrs. Davis and her daughter. A scuffle followed and Miss Joiner fell onto the highway and was struck by a passing car.

The state charged that Miss Joiner was injured fatally in the scuffle before she fell, while the defense maintains she was killed by the car.

Most of the prospective jurors have been excused on grounds they have fixed opinions in the case or that they are distant relatives of the Davies.

Eisenhower, Nehru Return To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India returned to Washington today after 24 hours of private talks on world problems in the seclusion of Mr. Eisenhower's farm house at Gettysburg, Pa.

Mr. Eisenhower's limousine drove first to Blair House, the official government guest house where Nehru is staying during his state visit here. The President got out of the car with Nehru, shook hands warmly with him, and said, "Well, sir, I'll see you tomorrow."

Nehru went into Blair House to prepare for a lunch given in his honor by Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon. Mr. Eisenhower drove on to the White House, a scant hundred yards away across Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mr. Eisenhower's parting remark indicated that further Eisenhower-Nehru talks will be held at the White House Wednesday. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had said previously that a further meeting was possible, although no definite plans had been announced.

Nehru leaves Thursday for New York. He will address the nation tonight by radio and television (10:15 p. m. CST).

by our area and how little we have capitalized on it."

Fall to Utilize Attractions

Dr. Morris, who stated that it was the job of SIU to determine the potential of the area but that it was up to the people to act, revealed he had seen many of the attractions falling into decay and added: "We have a treasure house of major interests and don't utilize them."

He called for sprucing up these places and for improving the country roads so that many attractions will be more available.

"We need to get people off the main roads," he commented. Five of the six counties in the area presented their county unit projects to the association, and they were approved by the group. The projects in brief:

Saline: Louis Aaron reported that the projects are to get all-weather roads to the Little Garden of the Gods and Old Stone Fort.

Johnson: Ned Gillespie reported tentative plans were to install large highway signs to advertise Fern Clyffe State park and Old Vienna; that pictures of beauty spots would be taken and slides made to show to people in the county and sell them on that county's attractions.

Massac: Ray Mittendorf reported a huge program of signs, to direct people to and advertise the Mermet Game refuge, Joppa, Fort Massac and Brookport and that maps would be made to show places of scenic importance.

Pope: Bill Rottman showed the first map, already off the presses, of Pope county, which listed attractions in that county.

Gallatin: Horace Brown reported this unit planned to work to secure the Saline River Basin program and that signs would be made to advertise the original Shawneetown.

Senator Glen O. Jones spoke briefly at the meeting, declaring "this organization has kept its strength and progressed far better than we ever believed could have happened. . . . We've planted a seed that has taken root."

George Scherrer, president of the association, presided, and Mr. Mittendorf, vice president, introduced Dr. Morris.

The January meeting will be held in Harrisburg the evening of Jan. 21 at Santy's dining room on East Poplar street.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

XXXI

Everyone had been frozen with the crash of the shot and Jack Bruhn's sudden death.

Dan recovered first and his glance swept the stunned faces. This was war between the outlaws themselves and he realized that he and Vivian stood in a dangerous place.

None of the outlaws paid any attention to him. He touched Vivian's hand and she jerked up her head, eyes dazed. But she understood his signal and she moved slowly and carefully back toward the door with him.

Tex had completely forgotten Dan and the girl, and none of the others so much as looked their way. They stared down at Jack Bruhn and now Juarez stirred and moved to Darrow's side. Pace still leaned against the bar as Dan opened the door and he and Vivian slipped out.

Suddenly Vivian started to tremble and Dan put his arm around her shoulders to give her new confidence.

"Thanks, Dan. I'll be all right." They listened but still could hear no sound from inside. Dan turned to lead her away and stopped short. Starrett came striding up the steps and halted. Dan shook his head.

"I wouldn't go in there, Blaise."

"Why not?"

"George Gorton was just killed."

Starrett's jaw fell and Dan added, "and Darrow just killed Jack Bruhn. They could start fighting among themselves any minute."

"Jack Bruhn!" Starrett looked stunned. Just then a shot blasted inside the saloon. Dan grasped Vivian's arm.

"It's started. Let's get out of here." He left Vivian at her door and warned her to stay inside.

He slowly mounted the saloon steps, straining to hear some sound from within. He heard only a faint laugh, muffled by the wall.

Dan pushed open the door, alert and tense. He looked toward the place where George and Bruhn had been killed but the bodies had been moved. His gaze swept on around the room, seeing Starrett seated at a table with Pace, talking eagerly while Pace nodded calmly now and then. Dan's lips thinned, knowing that Starrett had lost no time to renew his deal with the outlaws.

Denver nursed a shot glass, a bottle at his hand. He looked up when Dan came to stand beside him, and his eyes were bloodshot.

"You again," he muttered in his beard. "Have a drink. We don't pay for 'em no more. Pace says."

"Where's Darrow?"

Denver lifted a shaggy brow, stared owlishly at Dan. He pointed to the closed storeroom door behind the bar.

"Tex is in there . . . with Jack and that crazy blacksmith. All three of 'em, waiting for boothill."

"Tex?" the surprise made Dan's voice lift.

"Tex . . . done went where all owlhooters go . . . yonderly and for good." Denver shook his head.

"Not five minutes after he salted Jack Bruhn, him and Pace tangled. Least, I think they did. Anyhow Pace give Tex a .45 slug before any of us know what happened. We got a new leader."

"Pace," Dan whispered and looked up at the bar mirror. Maybe Bruhn held off but that killer won't. Hal Crane's life isn't worth a whistle in a blizzard. Dan placed his glass on the bar and walked casually toward the door.

"Hey!" The voice was sharp and commanding and Dan's heart sank. He was sure it was Pace but he dared not look back. Instead, he pulled the door closed behind him as though he hadn't heard.

He reached the haven of the store and, once inside, felt suddenly weak, as though he had raced at top speed for miles. Hal Crane looked up, startled.

Dan brushed Vic aside with a quick word, advanced to meet Crane, took his arm and wheeled him about.

"Hey!" Crane exclaimed, and tried to check Dan. "You gone loco!"

"In the warehouse," Dan snapped. "Could mean your life." Crane blinked but didn't argue. Dan closed the big door in Vic's amazed face and then led Crane far enough away so that they could not be heard through the thick walls.

"Hal, listen to me. We got to make it quick. Blaise fired me from Star."

"I heard, but—"

"Blaise plans to get all of HC spread. Hal. He's just made a deal with Pace Odlum to have you killed."

Crane's jaw dropped. Starrett?"

Dan spoke impatiently, telling Crane the full story.

"You can't get out of town, Hal. But you've got to hide."

He tugged worriedly at his earlobe and suddenly lifted his head, eyes alight.

"George's shack! They won't look for you there. It's at the edge of town and, if they do think of it, you can see 'em coming in time to hide."

"Where?" Crane asked dryly.

"That old lean-to against the back," Dan snapped.

Crane didn't like the idea. Dan threw open the door and entered the store proper. Vic and Bob stood nearby, looking at him with owl curiosity. Art stood near the stove, hands shoved in his pockets, boyish eyes alight with excitement. Ernie, still by the window, suddenly called in a low voice, "Dan! Come here!"

Balance of Power

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT Circumstances may yet combine to swing control of the U. S. Senate in the next two years from Democratic to Republican. But the GOP's longer range prospects in 1958 are less bright.

The first big uncertainty in the new Senate affects the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Price Daniel of Texas. Now the government-elect of his state, he must resign his Senate berth by next Jan.
15.

His successor will be chosen in an election yet to be scheduled.
And since at least three Democrats may bid for the post against a single Republican, the experts in Texas consider a GOP victory quite possible.

In that event the balance in the Senate would be 48-48 instead of the currently indicated 49-47 Democratic margin. With a tie, GOP Vice President Nixon would cast the deciding vote and the Republicans could organize the upper chamber.

Even if the Democrats hold Daniel's seat, they have several senators of 80 or more whose death or retirement could produce a switch in control. In most of these cases, the senators represent states with GOP governors, who would of course appoint interim choices to sit until 1958.

In that next general election, however, the Republicans may be hard-pressed to gain or hold Senate control. Of the usual 32 seats up for grabs, 21 are now held by Republicans and only 11 by Democrats.

The Democratic seats at stake include five representing the normally "safe" southern states of Mississippi, Florida, Tennessee, Virginia and Texas (if that is held in 1957).

This would leave only Missouri,
Rhode Island, Montana, Massachusetts, Washington and New Mexico as battlegrounds where the GOP could hope to pick up strength. All six seats are now held by popular incumbents who will be hard to unseat. A possible exception is Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, who has been ill this year.

With 21 seats on the firing line,
the Republicans are far more vulnerable. Their holdings include berths in touch-and-go states like Michigan, Minnesota, Connecticut,
Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio,
Nevada, California, Arizona.

In West Virginia, usually Democratic, Chapman Revercomb gained a Republican victory this fall but must stand again two years from now.

The official figures are still pouring in from the 1956 election. But with this kind of struggle shaping up for 1958, party bigwigs worth their salt will soon be concentrating on new strategy rather than old figures. In the politician's world, there is no time to lose.

Change of Heart In Iceland

To our experts it did not make sense from the military viewpoint that tiny Iceland wished the United States to give up its precious air base at Keflavik—though we could understand Icelandic unhappiness at the continued presence of U. S. troops for more than a decade.

Now it appears that rude shock of Soviet terror in Hungary has produced a change of heart. Iceland will allow the troops to stay on guard at Keflavik.

The North Atlantic Treaty Council had urgently requested review of the original Icelandic request for American withdrawal. It did not come until terror struck.

But this should make no difference. Our own Congress often has made vital decisions only under the pressure of obvious and heavy external peril. What counts is that evidently this base, so vital to our own and the West's security, may now be held for an indefinite time to come.

There are 500 species of hummingbirds and they are found only species in the United States.

F.D.R. Escaped Assassination Two Times, New Book Reveals

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The life of the President of the United States is always in danger.

This fact is dramatized by the revelation of two attempts to assassinate former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, which have never before been told.

One of these attempts is revealed in an excellent new book called "The FBI Story," written by famed newsman Don Whitehead.

Don writes:
"As the number of prisoners of war in the United States climbed to 175,000 and then to more than 400,000, Hoover (J. Edgar) became increasingly concerned about the dangers of sabotage and espionage by escaped prisoners. At one time the prisoners were escaping at the rate of 75 a month."

At this time, the book reveals, an intelligence report came to the FBI here that there was a plan for mass escape by these prisoners and that an attempt would be made to assassinate President Roosevelt in the resultant confusion.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, the plan was frustrated.
The other attempt on Roosevelt's life was at Yalta and included the planned assassination of Churchill and Stalin. It is told here for the first time.

It's the story of Hans Gergen Isenheim, a former German para-trooper who is now a U. S. Army employee in Bonn, Germany.
Army officials say there is no reason to disbelieve Isenheim, and confirm the fact that he was a German paratrooper from almost the start of the war and served with great distinction.

The Secret Service and FBI here say they never heard of the plot. But that may be because as it turned out the Russian army frustrated the whole thing.

As Isenheim tells the story it was supposed to be a suicide mission of a handful of picked German paratroopers. Planes laden with dynamite were to crash land near the scene of the meetings of the Big Three leaders without exploding their ammunition.

ISENHEIM AND the rest of his suicide squad were to remove the dynamite from the planes and rush toward the Yalta meeting place and try to blow it up. The plan was worked out in great detail, he says.

In fact, with typical German efficiency, the letter to his mother reporting his expected sure death was mailed before the plot was broken up. His mother who is still alive and runs an exclusive inn in Germany could hardly believe it when he showed up at home as the war was drawing to a close.

The fact that the Germans knew about the Yalta meeting is not new. It has already been told how German submarines tried desperately to sink U. S. ships on which Roosevelt sailed while he was in the European theater.

One of the reasons why the story of Isenheim's frustrated mission may not have been told is because the Russians were in charge of security for the affair and did not want it ever known that Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin were ever in any personal danger.

THE GERMAN air force base at which this mission of assassination was being organized was near the Russian front, Isenheim tells.

Then men knew that something big was cooking and became alarmed when their food rations were suddenly increased. But they weren't told exactly what the mission was until a few days before they were to take off.

It was then that they were shown drawings of the area and given detailed instructions how to attack, Isenheim recalls.

The trouble was, his story goes,
the Russians rushed at the base with a strong detachment of tanks. The paratroopers who were to kill Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill were pressed into the defense of the base and half of them were killed.

That ended the plot.
The Russians kept pushing the Germans rearward on that front and there was never any chance to put the mission into operation, Isenheim recalls.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We do that too. We say when we are old we will turn to relig-accept in preference to a royal

Agents Seek Jobs For Unemployed Railroad Workers

W. W. Wirth, New York Central Railway agent, announces to employers of this community that skilled, semi-skilled and common laborers are immediately available through the local railroad station and freight agents. These agents have been designated unemployment claims agents by their companies and register laid-off railroad workers for unemployment benefits. Persons to be entitled to receive benefits under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance act must be available for suitable work at all times. Dieselization, mechanization and improved operating efficiency have caused a substantial reduction in railroad employment despite the fact that railroads are now operating at highest peacetime levels. Workers affected by lay-offs (usually those with little seniority) are available for permanent or temporary work. According to Mr. Wirth these men (and women) have successfully passed rigid physical examinations and character investigations. No fees of any kind are charged either the employers or applicants. Interviews can be arranged by calling either Mr. Wirth, phone 137, or Louis Gall Jr., phone 77W. America's first glass factory, established in 1808, was located at Jamestown, Va.

Equality, Ridgway Meet Tonight for Championship of Invitational Tourney

Cave-in-Rock and Shawneetown Lose Opening Games

Host Equality and pre-tourney favorite Ridgway meet at 8:30 this evening for the championship of the Equality Holiday Invitational basketball tournament.

The two clubs won their way into the title round by winning over Cave-in-Rock and Shawneetown in the opening session of play Monday. Preceding the championship game tonight, Cave-in-Rock and Shawneetown play for consolation honors at 6:45.

Ridgway took a decisive victory from Shawneetown in the tourney's opening game, 83-54. Then Equality edged past Cave-in-Rock in an overtime struggle, 63-59.

The big guns of Ridgway's attack were Lawler, Clifford and Suttner, each scoring in double figures with 6-8 Suttner leading the parade with 30 points. The big guy also controlled the rebounding and blocked 15 attempted shots.

Stewart, Shawneetown's veteran guard, led his team's scoring with a total of 23 markers. Ridgway jumped out to a 20-14 first quarter lead and dominated play throughout, adding to its advantage in every period of play.

Equality and Cave-in-Rock battled right down to the final horn to give the jam-packed crowd plenty of thrills.

Equality held a three-point lead going into the final frame, then the Rockers came up with an 18-15 quarter to knot the count. With only seconds left in regulation time the score was tied 53-53 and Cave-in-Rock had the ball, controlling play waiting for one last shot. But the attempt was no good.

At the start of the overtime Equality hit for a field goal and then managed to hang on for a 63-59 decision.

Gordon Smith paced Equality with 18 points, but Cave-in-Rock's Ted Switzer was high point man of the game with 25.

Illinois Halts San Francisco Streak of 60 Victories With 62 to 33 Debacle

By United Press

San Francisco's oft-postponed date with disaster has come at last after a fantastic two years and one week.

After avoiding defeat through a record 60 straight games stretching way back to Dec. 11, 1954, San Francisco's Dons reached the end of the victory trail Monday night in a "no excuse" 62-33 debacle against Illinois at Champaign, Ill.

"We just didn't play a good game and that's all there is to it," admitted Dons' Coach Phil Woolpert after the lopsided Illinois triumph.

The clash between the Illini, ranked No. 3 in the nation, and San Francisco, rated No. 4, was strictly no contest from the opening whistle. Illinois reeled off eight straight points before San Francisco scored. In fact, the game was three minutes old before the Dons could get off a shot.

Illini Never Treaded

At halftime, the Illini led, 31-15, and they boosted that to 22 points at 39-17 within four minutes. The victors reached their widest margin, 32 points, at 60-28 shortly before the end. Six-eight George Bonsalle paced Illinois with 19 points and Don Ohl added 14. San Francisco, shorn of injured high scorer Gene Brown, was led by Al Dunbar with 12 points.

In the course of rolling up 60 straight victories since bowing to UCLA 47-40, on that hardly remembered occasion two years ago, the Dons smashed every winning record in the book and captured two straight national college championships.

It was the fourth win for unbeaten Illinois, but North Carolina, the nation's No. 2 team, stayed a jump ahead by gaining its fifth victory, 70-61, over Maryland. The Tar Heels opened up a 40-26 halftime lead and breezed home, although ace Lenny Rosenbluth was outscored by Maryland's Bob O'Brien, 29-26.

Monday night also saw the first round of the pre-holiday Carrousel Tournament at Charlotte, N. C. Title choice St. Joseph's, Pa., drubbed Davidson, 89-64, as Kurt Englebert fired in 36 points. Wake Forest, Florida, and Auburn also scored first-round wins to advance to tonight's semi-finals.

In other leading games Monday night: Defending Big Ten champ Iowa ripped Loyola of the South, 80-65, despite 28 points by 6-5 Pete Gaudin; John Richter and Bob Seitz had 26 each for North Carolina State in a 90-73 romp over Eastern Kentucky;

Bob Plump's 29 points led Butler to an 83-79 overtime win over Michigan St.; Don Smith's 24 points paced Nebraska in a 65-62 victory over Purdue; Notre Dame pulled away in the second half to beat Valparaiso, 86-74; Calvin Grosscup of Tulane had 22 points and 17 rebounds in an 81-60 win over Baylor.

Arizin Holds Slim Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Forward Paul Arizin of the Philadelphia Warriors held a slender 10-point lead today in the race for the National Basketball Association's individual scoring honors.

The 6-4 star, who finished second in the scoring race last season, has collected 200 field goals and 200 free throws for a total of 600 points and an average of 25 per game. He leads teammate Neil Johnston by 10 points and Bob Pettit, the St. Louis Hawks' scoring machine, by 23.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Rollie Moore, 215 North McKinley, won the "You Pick 'em" contest last week. And he did it in fine style. Rollie batted 1,000, picking all ten winners. And on the game of the week, Pinckneyville vs. West Frankfort, he predicted a 59-47 score, a spread of 12 points. The actual score was 64-54, or 10 points difference.

Had a three-way tie for second place. John Ellis of Shawneetown, David Nelson and Billy Hopkins, both of Harrisburg, each picked 9 winners and had a single loser.

Nelson anad Hopkins had a loser in picking Eldorado over Anna and Ellis' miss was in taking Galatia over Rosiclare.

Burdette Tops National Hurlers In Earned Runs

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette, who's generally rated the Milwaukee Braves' No. 3 pitcher, was credited today with an earned run average that entitles him to claim he's the No. 1 pitcher in the National League.

The ex-New York Yankee farmhand from Nitro, W. Va., topped all other pitchers in the circuit with a 2.71 earned run average and embellished that performance by also leading in shutouts with six. Burdette finished the season with a 19-10 record and 16 complete games in 35 starts.

Warren Spahn, 35-year-old ace of the Milwaukee staff, ranked second to Burdette with a 2.79 ERA—the sixth time in his career that he has compiled a rating below 3.00—while Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants was third at 2.86. Sal Maglie and Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers rounded out the top five at 2.87 and 3.06, respectively.

Bob Buhl, usually rated the Braves' No. 2 pitcher behind Spahn, wound up ninth in the ERA table at 3.32, according to the official figures compiled by the Elias Baseball Bureau.

Newcombe, major league pitcher of the year and the NL's most valuable player, led in victories and his 27-7 record also gave him a league-leading .794 percentage. Newcombe, who had an .800 percentage in 1955, is only the fifth pitcher in the league's history to rank first in percentage for two consecutive seasons.
